

WEEK 13 | DIGITAL GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE: CRITICAL REFLECTION
數位性別暴力：批判性反思

ALINGGO, SHIUE LING, LEE

慈濟大學人類發展與心理學系教授

Learning Goals

01. Analyze structural awareness of digital gender-based violence.
分析人們對數字性別暴力的結構性認知
02. Evaluate emotional, relational, and power dynamics in a real case.
評估真實案例中的情感、關係和權力動態
03. Construct categorizations of prevention strategies beyond “Five Don’ts and Four Do’s.”
建構超越「五項禁忌和四項應做之事」的預防策略分類
04. Propose improvements to prevailing prevention frameworks.
提出現有預防架構的改進建議

Real Story Module

This is a true story.

A case of betrayal, privacy violation隱私侵犯, and gender power.

Real Story Module

In 2025, a female student met a male student through a dating app. After gaining her trust, he persuaded her to send him a nude photo. Later, they had a conflict.

He threatened her by saying: "I'll share it with everyone. Let them ruin you. I don't care if you sue me."

Eventually, he posted her photo online together with her full name, school, and home address.

She experienced serious emotional trauma精神創傷.

Real Story Module

What three words or phrases stood out most to you?

哪三個字或片語最讓你印象深刻？

Brainstorming Discussion

Discuss the following questions:

1. Why did Person A ask for a nude photo?
2. Why did Person B agree to send it?
3. Why did Person A choose to hurt her in this way?
4. How might Person B feel? What options does she have now?

Brainstorming Discussion

- Could this situation happen if the genders were reversed?
- Is the statement “she sent it because she trusted him” too simple?
- How are power and fear present in this interaction?

Brainstorming Discussion

At this stage, connect the discussion to:

- Gender Norms (Chapter 8) 性別規範
- Privilege (Chapter 7) 特權
- Cycle of Oppression (Chapter 4) 壓迫循環

When does trust become leverage 籌碼？

When does consent become coercion 脅迫？

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 1 — “Body / Emotion / Power” Triangle Mapping

- Group work (3–4 students).
- Draw a triangle:
- BODY — EMOTION — POWER
- Groups analyze the story using concrete evidence.

Group Output: Completed triangle with key phrases.

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 1 — “Body / Emotion / Power” Triangle Mapping

A. BODY

- Why is a nude photo more than just an “image”?
- What does it mean when someone uses another person’s body as a threat?
- Are bodies judged differently depending on gender identity or expression?
- Would public reactions differ if the victim were male? transgender? non-binary?

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 1 — “Body / Emotion / Power” Triangle Mapping

B. EMOTION

- What emotions existed before the conflict? (trust, attraction, curiosity, affection)
- What emotions emerged after the threat? (fear, shame, anger, panic, isolation)
- Why is shame a powerful control mechanism in many cultures?

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 1 — “Body / Emotion / Power” Triangle Mapping

C. POWER

- At what moment did trust become leverage?
- How did Person A gain control without physical force?
- How does digital exposure amplify power imbalance?
- Does gender affect who is more likely to be blamed or shamed?

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 2 — Positionality Reflection: Privilege / Silence / Participation

Privilege

- Who appears to have more social power in this story? Why?
- How might gender, digital literacy, social reputation, or social norms influence vulnerability?
- Are certain bodies more likely to be judged harshly online?

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 2 — Positionality Reflection: Privilege / Silence / Participation

Silence

- If you saw this post online, what might prevent you from speaking up?
- How does bystander silence contribute to harm?

Participation

What actions count as participation in digital violence? (sharing, saving, screenshotting, commenting, joking, staying silent, etc.)

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 3 — Whole-Class Debrief

1. When does intimacy become control?
2. When does consent become coercion?
3. How does gender shape vulnerability—but not define it?

Critical Reflection Activity

— Body, Emotion, and Power

Step 3 — Whole-Class Debrief

Digital gender-based violence is about power and control, not about a specific gender being weak.

Evaluating the Limits of “Five Don’ts and Four Do’s”

Evaluating the Limits of “Five Don’ts and Four Do’s”

Task A

Write down specific moments when the main character could have applied the “Five Don’ts and Four Do’s.”

- One idea per sticky note.
- Be specific about the timing.

Evaluating the Limits of “Five Don’ts and Four Do’s”

Task B

Write down ideas beyond the “Five Don’ts and Four Do’s.”

Think about:

- Knowledge知識
- Awareness意識
- Relationship wisdom人際關係智慧
- Resources資源
- Bystander action旁觀者行動
- Gender norm awareness性別規範意識

Activity 2 — Media Reflection on Adolescent Digital Gender-Based Violence

Step 3 — Student-Led Categorization

Now, each group must:

1. Organize their sticky notes into categories.
2. Name each category.
3. Decide the “levels” or “layers” of prevention.

Activity 2 — Media Reflection on Adolescent Digital Gender-Based Violence

Step 4 — Group Reporting

Each group briefly presents:

- Their main categories
- How they organized the ideas
- What they think is missing from “Five Don’ts and Four Do’s”

Transition to Next Week

You will bring these insights into future teaching practice in:

- Tribal elementary and junior high schools 部落小學和國中
- Community service settings 社區服務機構

Your discussion today should guide how you facilitate 促進:

- How to talk about body autonomy 自主權
- How to encourage healthy relationship awareness
- How to recognize digital risks and resources 風險和資源
- How to reduce victim-blaming 減少對受害者的指責
- How to promote bystander responsibility 促進旁觀者責任

Padlet Reflection Task

Before leaving, please go to Padlet and write:

The three most important insights your group gained today.

These should be:

- Good questions you can ask younger students
- Important perspectives for school education
- Guiding principles for community workshops

Activity 2 — Media Reflection on Adolescent Digital Gender-Based Violence

Step 3 — Group Discussion

C. Structural Questions

- Is the case presented as an individual moral failure or a systemic issue?
- Are institutions 機構 mentioned (schools, platforms, law enforcement)?
- What structural conditions allowed this behavior to continue?
- Which identities might increase vulnerability 脆弱性 in this case ?
- Would this case look different if the identities changed?
- Was the legal framework 法律架構 mentioned in the report?
- Did the media explain legal protection, or only focus on scandal 醜聞?
